Guatemalan Showdown Near

A CITY REPORTER'S REFLECTIONS — Purchase of the old Truman school by the North Central Association for Aid to Retarded Children is a step which can be viewed with pride by the entire Dixon area.

A few years ago I had the pleasure of reporting the results of a similar school for handicapped kids conducted in Berwyn under auspices of the West Suburban Parents Group for Mentally Retarded Children.

I saw what had once been a pitifully shy little boy of early grammar school age romp and play and take an active interest in the activities of other children. Until a few short weeks before the classes started, the boy had not so much as touched the hand of another child. When he was first brought to the school's experimental classes, the lad was sullen, morose, and afraid to associate with the other children. Long before the classes closed, the child had become a leader in the activities of his classmates.

A seven-year-old girl, who suffered a combined brain and nerve affliction that made it almost impossible for her to sit quietly for more than a few seconds at a time, learned through healthy, compatible association with children of her own capacity to sit and watch a 30 minute movie without stirring.

Other children between the ages of three and 15 who had never been able to mumble more than a few incoherent words were able to sing and recite the pledge to the American flag after a few weeks of guidance.

All the pupils attending these classes had been branded as "non-educable" by scholastic authorities because they did not have the ability to learn to read or write. Some of them were spastic, some were mongoloid, while still others suffered from some other brain malformation.

While it could never be hoped that these youngsters could master the fundamental rudiments of a primary education, the school did succeed even beyond the expectations of the parents group in giving them a sense of social awareness and a sense of spiritual and aesthetic values.

The children did not learn to read or write, but they learned some things that many "normal" people overlook in their desire to get ahead in this world.

They learned to derive pleasure from the sweet scent of a flower or the beauty of the sunset. They learned to appreciate the unspoken, unseen beauty that is music.

But most of all, they learned to laugh and play with children of their own intelligence, children who did not take cruel advantage of their mental shortcomings.

It must be pointed out here that the school did not "work miracles." But it did succeed in making the children happier and better adjusted. And this, in itself, was a worthy enough reason for the school's existence.

Some of the children attending the Berwyn experimental school developed to the point where it was expected that they would one day be able to make their own way in the world by performing simple, manual wage-earning tasks.

Not only did the Berwyn program prove beneficial to the children, but it also greatly improved the morale of the parents, who were made to realize that something could be done to aid their children in making a satisfactory adjustment in life.

The NCIAARC deserves this community's wholehearted aid and encouragement in the task it is undertaking. And the Dixon area can doff its collective hat in justifiable pride for being the home of a group of courageous people who are not afraid to cope with one of life's saddest problems.

Believe Ward Heir An Addict Dead Youth Arrested for Dope, His Fiancee Says

CHICAGO (U) — Montgomery Ward Thorne's fiancée told a coroner's inquest today the young heir to a mail order fortune had been arrested 18 months ago as a dope addict.

The arrest was made, Miss Maureen Ragen, 18, testified, on complaint of Thorne's mother who also accused him of habitual drunkenness.

Earlier in the hearing police told of finding a makeshift hypodermic syringe, such as used by dope addicts, in the room where Thorne, 20, was found dead.

Detective Raymond J. Curran said he also found a marijuana cigarette, a sleeping pill and a teaspoon with a flame-blackened bowl in the room in a swank Gold Coast building. Addicts heat their doses of narcotics in spoons.

CHICAGO (U) — Authorities today intensified their investigation of the mysterious death of the 20-year-old heir to a million dollars after being told the young man revised his will recently to make his fiancée principal beneficiary and had expressed doubt he would live to come into his inheritance.

Montgomery Ward Thorne was found dead in his studio apartment Saturday. Coroner Walter E. McCarron said there were four needle marks on his arms but no evidence he was a user of narcotics.

The coroner ordered an analysis of vital organs.

Question Woman

He said he also has sent investigators to Birmingham, Mich., to interview the 25-year-old daughter of a prominent Birmingham family. He said the girl, an art student, occupied an apartment adjoining Thorne's until Friday. McCarron did not name her.

Jay Stough, who said he had been young Thorne's lawyer for some time, told Detective Capt. Harry Penzin that Thorne less than 10 days ago changed his will to make Miss Maureen Ragen, 18, chief beneficiary and executrix.

Penzin quoted Stough as saying Thorne, grandson of a former president of Montgomery Ward & Co., "was afraid he would never live to collect his inheritance. He asked me to assure that there would be a very thorough investigation... if he died."

$1,000 a Month

Stough said Thorne would have begun receiving $1,000 a month income from the estate of his father, Gordon C. Thorne, after his 21st birthday in October. The father's will provided the income would jump to $3,000 a month at age 30 and the son would be allotted the principal of his inheritance—estimated at a million dollars—at age 35, the lawyer said.

Miss Ragen, to whom young Thorne's new will left half of his estate, is the granddaughter of the late James M. Ragen, racing news service publisher who was shot down by gang assassins in 1946. She lives with her mother, Aleen, who is divorced from James M. Ragen Jr. The new will directs the remainder of young Thorne's estate be divided among relatives, including one-eighth to his mother, Mrs. Marion Thorne, 179 E. Lake Shore dr.

Services for Lars H. Skogsberg, 29, of 217 Woodlawn av., Dixon, who died in a Freepoint hospital Saturday night as the result of injuries sustained in an auto mishap, will be conducted at 2 p. m. Tuesday at Bethel Evangelical church. The Rev. Fred Cunningham will officiate.

A family service at the Jones funeral home, 204 Ottawa av., will precede the church service by 30 minutes.

An inquest into Skogsberg's death is pending the recovery of Mrs. Alberta Ross, 28, of 403 S. Second st., Oregon, who is currently in Freepoint's St. Francis hospital suffering from a fractured left arm, and arm and face cuts and bruises.

Mrs. Ross was a passenger in Skogsberg's automobile when it apparently failed to round a double curve and plunged 35 feet into a gravel pit on the Freepoint blacktop, one mile north of Rt. 26. The accident occurred around 10:30 p. m. Friday. Skogsberg was taken

Cigarette Users (50-70) Die Sooner, Cancer Study Shows

ACS Unveils Results of Its Research

Death Rate Higher By 75 Per Cent Over Non-Smokers

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter
SAN FRANCISCO (U) — Cigaret smokers die sooner than other men aged 50 to 70 and they die mainly from heart attacks and cancer, an American Cancer Society study reported today.

It finds an effect from cigarette on cancers other than lung cancer. Numerically, the biggest effect could be in heart disease, since far more people died of coronary disease than die of lung cancer.

Just what the effect of cigarette is upon men under 50 or upon women can only be guessed at until more studies are made, the authors of the report said.

The report is based upon interviews in 1952 with 187,766 healthy men aged 50 to 70 about their smoking habits, and a checkup upon causes of death of 4,854 of them who died within 20 months.

It shows the death rate—from all causes—among the cigarette smokers to be up to 75 per cent higher than among the men who never smoked.

For men who smoked a pack-a-day of cigarettes or more, the death rate from heart disease and cancer is at certain ages double that of non-smokers.

The risk seems to rise the more cigarettes are smoked.

Smoking only a pipe or only cigars doesn't seem to affect the death rates except possibly for cancer in general, but this possibility needs further study, the report said.

Cigarettes have been blamed by some scientific reports as a cause of an alarming rise in lung cancer, especially in men.

Today's report is the first disclosure of any findings from a long-awaited ACS study which set out to learn about any effects from smoking on cancer or other diseases.

It says it finds evidence cigarettes could have a cause-and-effect relationship with heart attacks and cancer.

The findings were reported to the American Medical Assn. by Drs. E. Cuyler Hammond and Daniel Horn, director and assistant director of statistical research of the ACS.

They said they had not expected to have significant results for another year.

The interviewing was done by 22,000 trained ACS volunteers in nine states—New Jersey, Pennsylvania, New York, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and California.

Some main points of their statistical breakdown:

Deaths from all causes were 65 per cent higher among cigarette smokers only compared with non-smokers in the age group 50-54; 60 per cent higher among those

Two Escape From Peoria County Jail

Saw Way Through Bars, Drop With Aid of Blanket

PEORIA, Ill. (U) — Two prisoners sawed their way out of the Peoria county jail early today and dropped from the second floor to the ground on an improvised rope blanket. Sheriff Fred Montgomery said the men were Charles Langford, 33, of Bonner Springs, Kan., held on a federal charge of transporting a stolen automobile across state lines; and Harry Donahue, 23, of Peoria, who has been sentenced to prison on a burglary charge.

Seeks Blanket Rope

Ernest Conter, a maintenance man at the court house across the street, about 7 a. m. noticed the blanket hanging from a jail window and that two steel bars on the window had been bent outward. He informed jail authorities.

Montgomery said investigation showed the men sawed a hole through a steel wall about 1/4 inch thick, then sawed through a steel chain to open another door, and saved through heavy steel mesh and through two steel bars about 1/2-inch in diameter. They attached a blanket to one of the bars and apparently slid and dropped to the ground.

Find Blades

Several hacksaw blades were found at the scene, Montgomery said. He started an investigation to learn how the blades were smuggled to the prisoners and also how they could have sawed through the steel wall and bars without being detected.

Montgomery said he notified Bloomington police to be on the lookout and that they missed the men by only a few minutes. Apparently driving a stolen automobile, the men stopped at a Bloomington rooming house and picked up Langford's wife, Patsy, 15, and escaped, Montgomery said.

Post Goes to Judge Carroll

Landy Clips Mile Record

TURKU, Finland (U) — Australian miler John Landy today became the second in track and field history to shatter the 4-minute mile barrier as he set a new world record with a clocking of 3 minutes 58.0 seconds.

Roger Bannister of England was the first to break the 4-minute barrier. He ran the mile in 3:59.4 on May 6 at Oxford, England.

Landy's best previous mile was 4:01.6, which he did twice—the first at Turku May 31 and the second time a week later.

Landy today also set a new world's record for 1,500 meters with three minutes 41.8 seconds in the Turku stadium.

Sheriff Warns of Parties At Nelson Swimming Spot

Lee County Sheriff John Stouffer said today all-night beer-drinking parties at the Butler gravel pit, near Nelson, must end or there would be arrests for trespassing.

The sheriff said he and Chief Deputy Robert Burris spent four hours observing conditions at the pit early Sunday morning and said that the post midnight parties would certainly end in tragedy if permitted to continue. The pool, closed to the public since a drowning several years ago, is a menace for persons who continue their celebrating after the taverns close.

As the result of Sunday morning's investigation, two youths, Charles Schick, 19, 200 14th av., Rock Falls, and Arthur Akridge, 19, of 509 W. Tenth st., Rock Falls, were arrested for drinking beer on a public road. The road in question is the township highway leading to the pool. Each was fined $10 when arraigned before Justice of the Peace Lawrence Boos Sunday morning.

Donald Butler, owner of the pit, first complained to the sheriff. Stouffer said that he also had received complaints from residents of Nelson.

Stouffer said that shortly after midnight Saturday, there were 25 automobiles parked on the road leading to the pit. Several hours later the number had grown to 30. He said that the party-goers, while not indecent, were a "bit wild."

The Nelson township road commissioner said today that he would post "no parking" signs on the narrow road leading to the pool. Butler also told the sheriff he would post large "no trespassing" signs on the fence around the pit.

Oregon Girl Injured When Horse Tumbles

OREGON (Special) — An Oregon girl suffered a brain concussion Sunday when the horse she was riding in a race at the fairgrounds in Oregon fell, throwing her to the ground.

Helen Powell, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Powell, was reported "improving" in Warmolts clinic today.

She was injured during a trail ride and horse show sponsored by Ogie County Riders Inc. Miss Powell was riding a horse in a running event when the animal slipped on a wet patch of ground and fell. Horse and rider reportedly skidded about 12 feet on the ground.

Miss Powell's horse, Ginger, escaped injury. Ginger was leading the field by three or four lengths at the time of the accident.

No Tangible Clues in Murder of Crime-Buster

PHENIX CITY, Ala. (U) — Officers announced today that another man was picked up Sunday and is being held for questioning in the A. L. Patterson murder investigation. Sheriff Ralph Mathews of Russell county withheld the man's name.

The sheriff declined for the time being to give any information, explaining it might hinder his investigation. Nine or 10 have been questioned since the anti-vice crusading Democratic nominee for Alabama attorney general was shot to death in his parked car in downtown Phenix City Friday night.

Prepare For Funeral

Meanwhile, a former FBI agent was assigned to help with the investigation while grieving relatives prepared for Patterson's funeral.

Services for the 63-year-old lawyer, who was to take office next Jan. 17 as Alabama's chief legal officer, were arranged for 1 p. m. (CST).

Patterson was shot three times. Meanwhile, National Guardsmen and reinforced squads of highway

Peace Lawrence Boos Sunday morning.

Donald Butler, owner of the pit, first complained to the sheriff. Stouffer said that he also had received complaints from residents of Nelson.

Weather Forecast In a Rut

Dixon weather appeared to be stalled in last week's rut as this week opened with the familiar theme, "warm and humid."

The mercury topped 88 by noon today. If it reached 90 by nightfall, today would be the eighth day in the last nine to see readings of 90 or more.

The high readings last week were Sunday, June 13, 91; Monday, June 14, 93; Tuesday, 91; Wednesday, 85; Thursday, 91; Friday, 93; Saturday, 94, and Sunday, 90.

The weather bureau said tonight and Tuesday will be partly cloudy, warm and humid with an occasional thunderstorm. Low tonight 70; high Tuesday near 90, low Tuesday night 64.

No Clues

But state and county officers said they still were without tangible clues.

St. Garrett, the incumbent attorney general whose place Patterson was to take, assigned two of his assistants to coordinate the investigation.

While the State Democratic Executive Committee still hadn't determined how a new nominee will be chosen to replace the slain man, his 32-year-old son and law partner, John Patterson, announced that he will be a candidate if a special primary election is called.

Both Sides Gearing for Big Battles

President Declares Martial Law; Rebels Report Attack Gains

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (U) — President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman of Guatemala proclaimed martial law throughout his invaded country today as his Communist-backed government mobilized for a showdown battle with anti-Red rebels.

Insurgent leaders claimed their forces were pushing ahead in a three-pronged drive aimed at key rail and road communications in the southern part of the country.

The martial law decree was announced late Sunday night after a government appeal for all private cars to be turned in for use in moving troops. Reports from Guatemala said the decisive phase of the battle for that neighboring Central American nation may come within 48 hours.

No Field Action

Associated Press Correspondent Jack Rutledge, in Guatemala City, quoted Guatemalan army officers as saying no field action had yet been fought. They added, however, that a battle could not be delayed much longer.

The U.S. Embassy in Guatemala City announced it is making plans to evacuate wives and children of U.S. citizens. With a wave of anti-U.S. feeling sweeping the city, the embassy reportedly feared violence might break out against North Americans. There are about 1,300 U. S. citizens in Guatemala.

Rebel sources said their planes are "dropping arms in western Guatemala, where uprisings against the government have been reported."

Personal Charge

President Arbenz reportedly has taken personal charge of defense strategy. It was speculated the taking-over of private automobiles could mean he plans to emulate the famous "taxicab army" which France rushed up to defend the Marne River during World War I.

There was no immediate reaction to diplomatic developments at the United Nations and elsewhere on Guatemala's charge it is the victim of aggression.

At an extraordinary Sunday session, the U. N. Security Council unanimously called for a ceasefire in Guatemala. The resolution, proposed by France, also urged all U.N. members not to aid either side in the struggle.

The move came after the Soviet Union vetoed a U.S.-supported bid to turn the complaint over to the Organization of American States and demanded the council itself act on the case.

Army Deserters?

Rebel headquarters claimed government soldiers "are deserting to our side" and declared the Arbenz government had no confidence in its army. Spokesmen gave no estimate on the number of deserters, however.

A spokesman said the rebel force consisted of 5,000 men, all Guatemalans.

The Guatemalan fighting sparked some anti-U.S. demonstrations in other Latin American nations.

In Havana, police reported a group of Cuban Communists attacked the office of the United Press, throwing stones and other objects at the news agency quarters. Windows were broken but no one was injured. Police said they made some arrests.

Flood Damage Grows in Iowa

DES MOINES (AP)—Floods hit more areas in Iowa today. Ragging waters claimed one life and caused hundreds of fresh evacuations.

A flash flood in this capital city drove scores of families from their homes and closed U. S. Route 6 through Des Moines.

The torrential rains in Iowa and northeastern Nebraska were part of a belt of thunderstorms running eastward through northern Illinois, southern Wisconsin and lower Michigan.

Towns Flooded

Walthill and Winnebago, Neb., small towns south of Sioux City, Ia., were flooded. Flood water in Nebraska blocked Highways 275 near Norfolk and 35 at Winside and was threatening the town of Pender. Two tornadoes were sighted in Nebraska but no damage was reported.

The storms brought only limited relief from the stagnant, sultry heat that in Chicago, on this first day of summer, approached a record 11 straight days of 90 degrees or higher. Similar readings or higher were the rule Sunday from the storm area southward to the Gulf, and were expected again today.

The western Dakotas, eastern Wyoming and northwest Nebraska were a bit cooler, but to the west and south it was even hotter. Sunday readings of 110 were common in the desert Southwest, and Yuma, Ariz., had 115.

Polka-Dots

Most of northern Iowa was polka-dotted with small lakes created by torrential rains. Crop experts said damage would run into millions. Highway and rail traffic were interrupted at many points.

The north-central Iowa city of Fort Dodge was among the new flood emergency points. Sioux City, in western Iowa, and Mason City, near the northern border, rode out flood crests and now face new crises.

Today was the beginning of the second week of daily outbursts of thunderstorms, occasional hail and high winds ranging up to tornado proportions. Rains have ranged to 10 inches and downpours of 5 inches or more have been common throughout the northwest and northern sectors.

5 Firemen Injured In Blaze Started By 6-Year-Old Boy

Maine Goes To the Polls In Primary

PORTLAND, Maine (AP)—Maine puts its vote on the line today in a primary in which Sen. Margaret Chase Smith contends that Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) apparently planted the man opposing her.

That is the closest Mrs. Smith has come to openly accusing the Red-hunting Wisconsin senator of attempting to engineer her defeat in the Republican senatorial primary.

And it was her nearest approach to a direct attack on her competitor, Robert L. Jones.

Jones is a McCarthy supporter. Mrs. Smith definitely is not.

Mrs. Smith had spoken of McCarthy in an earlier TV interview with commentator-columnist Drew Pearson that was filmed several days ago in Washington.

Jones followed through by saying Pearson was "brought in here to try and run me."

The race between the 56-year-old senator and the 34-year-old Jones, a novice in politics, is the only state-wide contest in today's primaries.

A Jones victory would be a tremendous upset and political forecasters around the state picked Mrs. Smith as an easy 3-1 or 4-1 winner.

Both candidates for governor are unopposed, Gov. Burton M. Cross on the Republican ticket and Edmund S. Muskie of Waterville, Democratic.

U. of I. Board May Hire New President Soon

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—The president of the University of Illinois board of trustees says the university may have a new president by Sept. 1, but he may not take office until July 1955.

President Herbert B. Megran, in a report to an alumni meeting, Saturday said, "We are striving to name the man who will be Dr. Morey's successor and we hope to have the name of the new president by Sept. 1."

"But it is doubtful," Megran added, "that the new president will assume office until next year, possibly by July 1955 we will have a new president."

"You may ask me what we will do Sept. 1. Well, we will meet that situation when we know what the situation is at that time," Megran said.

Morey was named acting president of the university by the board of trustees after the resignation of Dr. George D. Stoddard in July 1953. Later, the board made Morey president on an appointment that runs to Sept. 1, 1954.

By that date, Morey will have reached the retirement age of 68, but the University statutes provide that the trustees if they wish, may waive retirement for a year at a time.

Findings of Commissions Must Face the Congress

Randall's Tariff Group Finds Ideas Not Adopted

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — While still fresh in office last year President Eisenhower set up so many commissions to study and find answers for the problems facing him that critics jokingly called it "government by commission."

He is now learning that when a commission gets all through recommending, he still has to deal with Congress, and Congress can do as it pleases.

Last January a 17-man commission headed by Clarence Randall, steel manufacturer — wound up a six-month study by making a list of recommendations on foreign economic policy.

Eisenhower had taken office at a time when it was clear this country was going to have to cut down on the amount of the aid it was shoveling out to other countries. Yet, once the aid was shut off, they'd have to fill the gap somehow to survive, and one of the ways was in more trade with this country. The Randall commission was set up to look for answers.

Not "Perfect"

The perfect commission would be one in which all the members approached their problem with an open mind and would up with an answer so obvious that all the members were in complete agreement.

The Randall commission didn't come close to the ideal group. Individual members had strong, perhaps lifelong, opinions on foreign trade which apparently didn't change.

Among other things, the commission majority recommended that the reciprocal trade program be extended for another three years and some tariffs on foreign imports be lowered sharply over that period.

Under the Reciprocal Trade Act the President can lower tariffs on certain foreign goods coming here if a foreign country lowers its tariffs on certain American goods sent there.

Attack Report

Two of Eisenhower's own Republicans on the Randall commission, key men in Congress, attacked the commission's report on specific details and termed the entire report "vague, indefinite and unsatisfactory."

These two were Rep. Daniel A. Reed of New York and Rep. Richard M. Simpson of Pennsylvania. Reed is chairman and Simpson is a member of the House Ways and Means Committee, which gets first crack at all tariff legislation.

Another Republican commission member — Sen. Eugene Millikin of Colorado, who as chairman of the Finance Committee is Reed's counterpart in the Senate — put in a long letter that was far more dissent than agreement.

Reed and Simpson took the position that, tariff lowering, as recommended by the Randall commission, would hurt American business because of the competition of imported foreign goods and cause unemployment.

Cohn Expects Resignations Of Staff Aides

NEW YORK (AP) — Roy M. Cohn, chief counsel for the Senate subcommittee on investigations, said Sunday night he expected some members of the committee staff to resign to accept "attractive business offers."

"I have no plans to resign," Cohn said in an interview following a television appearance on the Walter Winchell program over the American Broadcasting Co. network.

"But some members of the staff," he added, "have received attractive business offers and I expect some of them will resign."

Cohn said he would not fight dismissal if a majority of the committee votes that he should not remain on the staff.

During the broadcast Cohn said, "The great support of the American people has been enough to make me want to stay on. But I will continue fighting communism whether on or off the committee."

Cohn said the committee had received "a great deal of information about Communists placed on supposedly respectable newspapers."

When questioned after the program, Cohn said one result of the 36-day hearings was to "show the public how slanted the news coverage of the hearings was."

Congress in Recess for Sen. Hunt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both houses of Congress arranged to suspend their business sessions today to mark the deaths of Sen. Lester C. Hunt (D-Wyo.) and Delegate Joseph R. Farrington (R-Hawaii).

Hunt, depressed because of a kidney ailment, shot and fatally wounded himself in his Senate office Saturday. Farrington, 56, died the same day of a heart ailment at his desk in the House Office Building.

Funeral Today

Funeral services for the 61-year-old Hunt will be conducted at 2 p.m. (EDT) today at Trinity Episcopal church. Funeral arrangements for Farrington have not been completed.

Hunt, who served as governor of Wyoming for six years before coming to the Senate in 1949, was found unconscious in his office Saturday morning, a .22 caliber rifle lying nearby. He died after an emergency brain operation was performed in an effort to save his life.

Dist. Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald issued a verdict of suicide. The senator's body will be flown after today's service to Cheyenne, Wyo., for burial Tuesday.

Farrington's physician said Farrington had long suffered from a heart condition. Farrington was president and publisher of the Honolulu Star-Bulletin.

With Wyoming's acting Republican governor expected to name a GOP replacement for Democrat Hunt, the Senate lineup would be 48 Republicans, 47 Democrats and one Independent. The Democrats have held a one-seat edge since a Democrat last year was named to succeed the late Sen. Robert A. Taft, (R-Ohio).

Best Product of Hearings Was Education Given Public

The Senate subcommittee which heard two million words of testimony in the Army-McCarthy hearings must now weigh and sift this mountain of material for some kind of official report.

Meanwhile, an outside observer may hazard comment on some aspects of the controversy which seem to stand out plainly, without a line-by-line study of the record.

The issues were whether, on the one hand, Senator McCarthy and his aides used improper pressure to obtain favors for Pvt. G. David Schine, and, on the other, Secretary of the Army Stevens and Army Counsel John Adams employed "blackmail" to get McCarthy to halt his inquiry into communism in the Army.

In testifying on these central matters, one or more of the principals in the case must surely have committed perjury. For the record is replete with direct conflicts of statement, with flat contradictions by each side against the other.

Unhappily, these clashing points are so encased in the fuzz of hazy recollection on the part of virtually all the principals, that a finding of perjury by Attorney General Brownell would come as a surprise.

Out of this welter of conflicting and confusing testimony, it would seem to be terribly difficult to extract proof that a particular principal was lying at a particular time.

It would seem hard, too, to show conclusively that impropriety existed on either side, or, if it did, to what degree it was present.

But these things probably struck most average citizens who either viewed the hearings or read about them:

1. Both the Army and the McCarthy staff spent altogether too much time haranguing over the fate of Private Schine.
2. Stevens and Adams again and again got down on bended knees trying to appease McCarthy and Committee Counsel Roy Cohn.
3. There was no indication in the record that Schine ever did sufficient committee work to warrant all the fuss over him.
4. Chairman Mundt, thrust onto the center stage in the inquiry, wielded his gavel as though it were made of putty.
5. Nobody showed any talent for keeping the hearings on the main track.
6. The country got its first long, hard look at Senator McCarthy in action.

Whatever the committee's verdict, the people who have seen or read all this, who have watched not only McCarthy but many lawmakers and officials in action under test, have had a vital lesson.

We are all better educated about the men who govern us. Maybe that's almost enough to have justified the whole incredible spectacle.

The Mature Parent Mother Who 'Spoils' May Be Afraid of Self Assertion

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Sometimes I get letters from grandmothers of spoiled little boys and girls that make me feel sad. Like the one that said:

"Please warn my daughter she's spoiling her child. All he has to do is cry and scream to get his own way in anything. She thinks we don't like the child, whereas the truth is he's a trouble to everyone because she's afraid to say 'No' to him. But if I tell her that she's afraid him, she acts as though she doesn't hear."

That's when I get sad. For how can we expect Billy's mother to recover from fear of him just because we tell her to?

She fears him because she dares not imagine what would happen to her if he knew how she really resents him. Psychiatrists have a word to describe what she does when Billy defies her. They would say she "projects" on him.

What they mean is that she believes he feels all the angry resentments she has, felt when she was denied her own way. And that to act toward Billy would mean exploding from him all the explosive material that exists in her.

Her action is paralyzed, not because she wants it that way, but because all her experience in any self-assertion has ended in defeat and loneliness and anger.

So if her mother wishes to persuade her that it can end in victory and confidence, I have a suggestion for her.

I suggest she bend all her love and energy into encouraging her daughter to say to her, "Mother, please mind your own business."

Why? Well, if this daughter once discovered that her self-assertion could end, not in defeat, loneliness and anger, she might find the strength to assert herself again.

She might think: "If mother can take my resistance to her without attacking me, maybe Billy could."

What's Right?

Some persons, when they meet a visitor from another city, put him through a regular third degree. "Do you know the Smiths?" "You must know the Browns. He is very prominent." And they keep it up until they have exhausted all the impressive names they know. Don't give the impression you are trying to find out how important the visitor is by finding out whom he does or doesn't know.

The impression you make won't be too impressive.

When a person you have just met starts to leave and says "I am glad to have met you," meet his courtesy at least half way. A half-hearted smile and a nod aren't enough. Say something like: "Thank you. I've enjoyed talking with you." But no matter what you say be sure to look right at the person when you say it.

An interested look speaks louder than words.

too! Maybe if I remove this candy from him, in spite of his screams, he won't punish and hurt me terribly either."

But if Billy's grandmother, flushed with outrage by her daughter's self-assertion, flounces out of her house, crying, "This is the end!" then we know that, like Billy, she's more interested in bullying than in helping.

And we know how that daughter came to expect unimaginable disaster if she resisted people who wanted their own way, regardless. We know why she's learned to hide her resentment by giving in to them.

Wife Can Lessen Husband's Feeling of Getting Nowhere

What can a wife do when her husband gets the discouraged notion that he is on a treadmill, and that as a couple they are working hard and getting nowhere?

A reader who says that she is 38 and her husband is 40 puts that question to this column. The couple have three children, all of school age.

First of all, you should understand that your husband's feeling of "getting nowhere" is shared by a great many men his age.

By age 40 a man has to quit thinking of himself as a young man with his future before him and acknowledge the fact that "this is it."

fabulous CinemaScope deal.

JIMMY DURANTE's denying a news broadcaster's flash about the identity of his famous Mrs. Calabash, Mrs. Calabash, said the broadcaster, was Jimmy's pet name for his departed partner, Lou Clayton.

From New York, Jimmy told me: "It's another wrong guess. I used it as a goodnight signoff on radio long before Lou's death."

Mrs. C's identity is still a mystery, though, because Jimmy still ain't talkin' about it.

It's CBS-TV producer Peter Aron's silly about the pvester who has his glasses made by a BOP-TICAL company.

Unless he is entirely pleased with how far he has been able to climb the ladder of success—and few men are—then this acknowledgment can be painful.

HER ATTITUDE CAN HELP

But what you want to know is how a wife can help to keep her husband from feeling that what is isn't good enough.

Her own attitude can help a lot. If she talks enthusiastically about what they have and what they have been able to do, instead of what they haven't got and haven't been able to do, her attitude will be catching.

It wouldn't hurt, either, to remind her husband now and then that your husband and wife who are making a good home for their children, seeing to it that they get an education, and meeting each day's needs as they come along, aren't just marking time, but are shouldering their responsibilities and moving ahead.

There are two other things you may need to do. Help your husband figure out some definite goal that you can work toward together, since no one working toward a goal can feel that he is just marking time.

The other is to add some new interests to your life. No man who is busily learning all about a new hobby has time to fret over being on a treadmill.

Our Boarding House

With Major Hoople

(Copyright, 1953, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

NEW YORK—Last March when Earl Warren, the political whatnaffit from California, was up for confirmation as chief justice, there was an awful uproar against persons who made "unsworn and unevaluated charges" against this baby-kissing bipartisan aspirant for the presidential nomination in 1956.

One of those who made "unsworn and unevaluated charges" was Roderick J. Wilson of San Francisco. He went across the country to say what he had to say right into Warren's gravestone teeth. There were others equally forthright and equally well heeled with valid information which proved that Warren was still an active politician, still controlled a colossal patronage, both state and federal, and was still the spiritual head of a ruthless machine.

The burden of the beef was not criminal crookedness nor ignorance, although Warren has no such professional distinction as would seem to be appropriate for the job. The charge was that he had been a bad governor for reasons within his control. These arguments went straight to the question of his fitness. But Warren was a promising cheesecake Republican, more appetizing to Democrats, Socialists and Communists than to pro-Republican Republicans and therefore Ike and his anti-Republican palace guard insisted on making him chief justice.

This Roderick J. Wilson, of San Francisco, was pinched in Washington just as he was about to sing out against Warren. They took him downtown but they had to let him go because they had no right to hold him. However, the pinch made the headlines and the editorials. And it was made to seem that Warren's principal accuser was a disreputable crook and that the opposition, altogether, partook of his corruption.

Wilson said over and over that the indictment against him was phony and that he had been walking the streets openly back home. And he predicted that it would be dismissed by the state under Warren's own machine, because the state didn't dare face the issue on the evidence, if any.

On June 5, a small AP item from San Francisco bore out Mr. Wilson's declaration and challenge. The state district Court of Appeal dismissed the charge on the ground that he had not been tried within 60 days as the law required. Wilson got in his licks on that point, too. He said nobody tried to pinch him until he tried to head off Warren with information which he was willing to give under oath subject to the penalties for perjury. The only reason for the pinch was a plot to discredit the opposition to a political schemer's elevation to the post of chief justice.

Warren was in position, though not the legal status, of a defendant. However, as the nominee for the highest office in our jurisprudence it would have been seemlier of him to speak out against the outrage which with his knowledge was being done on his behalf. There was a test of his personal honor and judicial integrity.

This man was pinched on a low and venal pretext to shield Warren from revelations which he should have been willing to face up to or face down. What did Warren do? He kept a still tongue in his head and let the implication stand, for his own benefit, that Wilson was a crook and a fugitive from an indictment in California.

What about the "evaluation" of the charges against Wilson? The editorials and the fierce opinionaries of the press and radio who cried outrage against "unsworn and unevaluated charges" concerning Warren, ignored the fact that the charges against Wilson were "unevaluated." To be sure, they were sworn to by the grand jury, but this cult has clamored in accents wild that indictments are not convictions. Some even say that convictions are not convictions as we have seen in the case of Alger Hiss. Men convicted of grave crimes or errors are deemed to be innocent, even though guilty, because this cult claims special license for its clients.

Warren is a hybrid of a dangerous stripe. A nominal Republican, he has cultivated the Democratic vote in California and with it the Communist element, which has always found a welcome in the Democratic machine and a few months ago was ordered by the Kremlin to bore into both the Democratic and Republic parties.

Their influence is now seen in downright anti-Republican attitudes of prominent nominal Republicans toward pro-Communist bunds with secret funds and secret services which formerly were political outposts of the Democratic party far to the left of the party's acknowledged program.

In California, Warren is widely regarded as a mere sojourner in the Supreme court, building character for 1956. The cheesecake publicity which he has courted is the most flagrant and undignified in the history of the court with the sole exception of the vulgarity and political hucksterism of William O. Douglas.

Girl Scout Camp Diary

The overnight stay at camp proved to be fun for the scouts, some slept in Breezy Hollow and some of the girls slept out under the stars, at the back of Harvey Hall. When they woke next morning they saw a deer drinking in the creek.

A breakfast of fruit juice, french toast, pancakes and bacon was cooked on buddy burners under tin can stoves. The girls finished up all their handiwork in order to have everything ready to go home. Then the Brownies joined them for the grand time of digging up the bean-hole. The beans were much enjoyed by the scouts and Brownies who had remained at Pioneer for their lunch too. The intermediates broke camp at 1:30 and went home after a successful camping expedition.

The Brownies all went wading twice on Friday, and some of them made potato prints for handiwork. Mrs. C. F. Johnston finished her nature study course and brought it to an interesting conclusion with a question and answer period. She also identified all the specimens which the girls brought to class.

All small casualties that occurred at camp were well taken care of by the volunteer nurse, Mrs. Hazel Miller, who gave her services all week. Day Camp at Camp John Ralston was under the able direction of Mrs. M. L. Skelton of Rock Falls, assisted by Mrs. George Reed and camp chairman, Mrs. Leigh McGinnis of Dixon.

Dixon Jaycees Win Honors at National Meet

National honors were won by Dixon's Junior Chamber of Commerce last week during the annual Jaycee convention in Colorado Springs, Colo.

The Dixon Jaycees were awarded second place for their traffic safety program in competition with an estimated 1,000 Jaycee chapters from communities in the 10,000 to 25,000 population class. Last year the Dixon chapter won a first place award in the same division.

The awards are made on the basis of a scrap book submitted to explain how chapters work in accident prevention, safety, and education. Winners are judged on the basis of service to the community and the part that member Jaycees play in each activity.

Before going to the national convention, the Dixon Jaycees won two first place awards in state competition, for its traffic safety and youth activities programs.

Representing the Dixon Jaycee chapter and its auxiliary at the convention were Chapter president and Mrs. Warren Walder, 611 Galena av.; Immediate Past President and Mrs. Gene Krahenbuhl, Shore Acres, and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Buckner, 415 N. Ottawa av.

Miss Kentner, who died May 11, left various sums of money to a number of Dixon area religious organizations, civic groups and individuals. Miss Kentner lived at 215 E. Fellows st. She was a teacher at North Central school, and had been retired for many years. The estate showed $35,900 in real estate and $25,000 in personal property.

Among the legatees named in the will were Dixon's First Methodist church and KSB hospital, each slated to receive $5,000 contributions. It was directed that the money given to the hospital be used to purchase surgical equipment.

The city of Dixon was named to receive $1,500 for the purchase of an iron lung, or similar equipment. The will stipulated that $10,000 be given for a self-supporting home for the aged, and that $5,000 be donated to a proposed Dixon YMCA, should either of these be established here within the next 10 years.

The will also set up a $2,000 loan fund for qualified and needy Dixon boys and girls who desire higher education. The will stipulated that no aid be given to young men and women who drink or smoke.

Among the religious organizations designed to benefit from the will are the Rock River Conference of Methodist church, $5,000; the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Dixon Methodist church, $2,500, and Garrett Biblical Institute, Evanston, $6,000.

The will allotted $300 to the Dixon public library for the purchase of religious literature. More than 20 individual legatees were named in the will, each stipulated to receive an average of $500. Attorney Anna Moore was named estate administrator.

Rate Jumps

Death rates from heart attacks were twice as high among pack-a-day smokers aged 50 to 64 as compared with non-smokers. Among men 65 to 69 years old, there was not much difference.

Fewer men, percentage-wise, in the 65 to 69 age group had been inveterate cigarette smokers as against those 50 to 64, the report said. And perhaps more of the heavy smokers had already succumbed to heart attacks or other ailments before reaching the 65 to 69 year span, it added.

Predict Farm Bill That Ike Can Approve

WASHINGTON—(U)—Senate and House Republican leaders predicted today that Congress will pass a farm bill which President Eisenhower can sign.

Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) and Rep. Halleck (R-Ill.) gave no details as they emerged from a weekly conference with the President, but Halleck said he hopes the bill will at least "make a start" on the gradual, flexible system of farm price supports asked by the administration.

The House Agriculture Committee has voted to extend for another year the present high-level rigid price supports on basic crops—a program Secretary of Agriculture Benson has said he would ask the President to veto. Eisenhower has not said what course he would take if rigid supports were approved.

Halleck emphasized the President's desire for "gradualism" in shifting the price support program to lower, flexible levels. He said the major question now is whether that aim should be achieved by administrative discretion or by congressional action.

But he admitted he was "a little confused" by the House Agriculture Committee's action in voting to make the higher levels mandatory.

French Hammer At Red Villages

HANOI, Indochina (AP)—French tanks, artillery, planes and gunboats and Vietnamese infantrymen smashed through a series of Viet-minh-infested villages 18 miles northwest of Hanoi today in an overnight mop-up.

A French spokesman said the raiders pushed through eight villages Sunday on the south bank of the Red river, between Hanoi and Son Tay.

More villages were under fire today.

The villages are on what is known as Vanoc Island, a several-mile long sliver of land formed by a split and eventual rejoinment of twin Red river channels.

Gunboats in Action

Small French naval gunboats from midstream pumped machine-gun fire into the villages while planes and artillery pounded them with high explosives. Then Vietnamese infantry units, supported by light tanks, smashed their way through the villages one by one.

Elsewhere in the delta, small patrol clashes flared during the night in a dozen different areas, some less than 10 miles from Hanoi.

B26 bombers caught Vietminh supply convoys with bombs on highways the rebels are using to bring up ammunition and rocket launchers to the edge of the delta for a possible assault against Hanoi.

Start Fires

French pilots reported starting large fires and touching off a series of explosions, indicating hits on fuel and ammunition.

In Saigon French military sources said five U. S. airmen captured by the Vietminh last Monday near Tourane had been put aboard a rebel ship which headed southward.

The French said reliable village officials reported the men a few hours after their capture had been loaded on a ship on the Vien Dien river.

Vernon, treasurer; Mrs. Betty Collins of Brookfield, chaplain; Mrs. Bernice Pagoria of Chicago, sergeant at arms; Margaret Condon of Chicago, national executive committeewoman; Mrs. Martha Lengyel, alternate committeewoman, and Mrs. Elsie Paul of Beecher, historian and public relations director.

Guard Slain In Attempted Prison Break

LANSING, Kan. (AP)—Shielding themselves with six terrified prison visitors, six desperate convicts tried to force their way out of the Kansas State Prison Sunday.

A veteran guard was killed, and one of the hostages and two of the convicts were wounded in bursts of gunfire before the group surrendered in the administration.

The convicts were armed with three crude .22 pistols and six knives, all made within the prison.

Rush Visitors

The six men rushed into the visitor's room, where about 25 visitors were talking with prisoners. They seized the hostages, including two children, and rushed to the administration building.

Fred Kenaga, 58, an unarmed guard supervisor with 25 years of service, encountered the group at the administration building door and was shot to death.

Inside a vestibule the convicts were stopped by two gates. Threatening the hostages, they yelled for gatekeeper Andy Hollinshead to open the gates. He refused and they fired at him.

Warden Charles Edmondson rushed into the corridor and drew fire from the convicts as the hostages screamed hysterically.

The warden got a rifle and stepped into the corridor again as armed guards approached the convicts.

Surrender Quickly

The convicts started shooting but surrendered when the guards opened fire.

The wounded convicts were Lawton Ray Collins, 24, Kansas City, shot in the hip, and William Henry Parker, 24, Gage, Okla., wounded in a finger. The other convicts were Donald E. Davis, 27, Sturgis, Mich.; Emmett May, 34, Topeka, Kan.; Robert Leroy Knight, 24, Picher, Okla.; and James Tarr, 22, Ponca City, Okla.

Mrs. Frankie Scroggins, 26, Kansas City, was wounded in the shoulder.

Warden Edmondson said the six convicts would be charged with first-degree murder for Kenaga's slaying.

Notes From A Touring Hal Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

PARIS (AP)—Leaves from a touring notebook:

Cooking is a form of poetry in France, and her fine restaurants are almost as famous as her great cathedrals.

But the average tourist just wants a good meal that is typical of the country.

To many a diet-starved American there is no greater taste thrill here than big chunks of tough, crusty French bread spread half an inch deep with yellow Normandy butter.

A French waiter, watching a group of us put down plate after plate of the wonderful bread here, asked:

"Don't you have bread in the United States?"

It was a hard question to answer.

In Germany the best food buy is bratwurst. It is a section of pork sausage about a foot long and so heavy it takes two small boys to lift one.

This Teutonic hot dog is broiled over a charcoal fire and, served with a bun; cost less than two bits.

The U. S. Army garrisons on the continent of Europe still live pretty much to themselves, creating small islands of America largely isolated from the life of the country around them.

The same people meet the same people everyday, and get as bored with each other sometimes as do the members of some country club set back home.

"It might have been necessary to do this right after the war," said an officer. "But the war has been over a long time now."

"We are making a mistake by not getting out and mixing more. We need all the friends we can make — and you don't make friends just talking to yourself."

Along with the group of former war correspondents who visited the beaches of Normandy ten years after the landings was a key invasion figure, Benjamin A. Dickson, who had an unusual story to recall.

Dickson, 57, a retired colonel from Paoli, Pa., was chief intelligence officer of the U. S. Army on D-day, June 6, 1944.

"During the landings a copy of our battle plan was washed overboard and floated to a section of the beach held by the Germans," he said.

"They recovered it. Here they had a document giving the actual battle lineup of our invasion forces — an intelligence agent's dream. But the document was so complete and detailed they thought it must be a trick to fool them, and they failed to act on it."

American staff officers had expected 35,000 casualties in the first few days of the invasion.

"Actually we had fewer — about

Police Recover Life Savings of Railroad Worker

CHICAGO (AP)—A suitcase containing $15,032 in bonds and checks vanished Sunday night when the owner, a retired railroad section hand, set it down for a moment to get a drink of fruit juice at a stand in the North Western station.

Police recovered it for Peder Berentson, 72, by the laborious process of touring the neighborhood west of the Loop and stopping everyone carrying such a suitcase. The fourth man they stopped, Hugh Binns, 54, had the right bag. Binns has been charged with grand larceny.

Berentson, formerly of Minneapolis and recently of Clearwater, Fla., said he recognized Binns as a man he talked to in the station shortly before the bag disappeared. Binns said he "gave the man a buck for the bag."

Berentson said he retired to Clearwater in 1947, after working for the Great Northern railroad for 27 years as a section hand. He said he was on his way to Reno. The bonds and checks represented his life's savings.

This May Be A Summer Of Decision

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The sun pushes as far north today as it can. And for many Americans this may well usher in what will come to be known as the summer of decision.

Problems galore will be forced upon you—world-shaking or just plain shaking. They range from the male form un-divine and the new rag-bag hair-do for women to the question of how many resort-bound autos can squeeze into one highway intersection at a time and whether to turn the rumpus room into a workshop.

Bare Knees Next

Already city streets are seeking the first bare male knees of the torrid season. Knobby and almost as red as was the first robin some months back, they are but the defiant advance guard of the big blitz to come.

Clothing men think this will be the summer to decide two of the burning issues of our day. Will walking shorts emerge from the suburbs to become standard summer wear? Will long hose or the ankle sock be the American male's final choice?

In the industry some also see this as the summer of decision for the fibers made by man. Use of synthetics in hot weather clothing may continue to increase at the impressive rate of former years. Or it may have about reached its peak of general acceptance.

Vital Question

Another vital question: The trend toward casualness in dress. Some refer to it bitterly as the trend toward sloppiness. How much more informal can the grown male and 28,000" said Dickson. "But had the enemy accepted on its face value this battle plan that had accidentally fallen into their hands, they could have quickly moved reinforcements down from Calais, and I'd hate to think about the result."

the adolescent female get? Or, to put it the way the subjects of the inquiry would, whose business is it but theirs?

What's worrying merchants now is this: Some men may decide to sweat out the Asiatic crisis in last year's suit. But there's a good chance others will take the "apres moi le deluge" attitude and go whole hog for an entirely new summer wardrobe—meaning,

"If the roof's going to fall in anyway, why not splurge?"

Dixon Legion Hands Clinton 9-5 Setback

Rock Falls Wins, 10-4, At Brooklyn

Amboy Wins, 19-4; Forreton, Oregon Take North Tests

BROOKLYN — (Special) — Rock Falls beat off Brooklyn in the first round of the race for first place in the Junior American Legion baseball race in southern division play yesterday by handing the Brooklynites a 10-4 setback.

Amboy captured its first victory of the season and took over fourth place in the southern division with a 19-4 win over Milledgeville.

In the northern division, Oregon stopped Byron and Forreton won its third game without a loss by shutting out Polo, 5-0.

Dixon's Legion, aided by a fine relief job by Ray Nelson, won an exhibition game from Clinton, Ia., 9-5. It was the first time in about six years that the Dixon team has beaten Clinton.

Has Sore Arm
Larry Brown started on the mound for Dixon and had a 2-1 lead when he left the game at the end of the third inning with a sore arm.

Ed Slain took over for Dixon in the fourth and pitched 2½ innings before his wildness finally brought home the tying run for Clinton. Nelson then took over and pitched shutout ball until the top of the ninth inning when Clinton finally got in for one run.

Dixon led 3-1 at the end of three innings but then trailed 4-3 when Clinton scored three runs on one hit in the top of the sixth. Dixon came back with two runs in the bottom of the inning and then added two runs in the seventh and two more in the eighth.

Brooklyn scored first against Rock Falls in the battle for first place. Rock Falls came back with single runs in the third and fourth and Brooklyn tied it at 2-2 with a run in the bottom of the fourth. But Rock Falls exploded for four runs in the top of the fifth and was never headed.

A third inning rain failed to halt the Amboy romp over Milledgeville. In the third, Amboy sent 17 men to bat, got seven walks, five hits and a hit batter along with one Milledgeville error to produce 13 runs. Amboy had led 5-1 going into the big inning.

In the northern division, three Forreton pitchers combined to shut out Polo. Hill started for Forreton and struck out 10 in five innings. Vertjes fanned seven in three innings and Vietmeier struck out one in one inning.

P. Blair went the distance for Polo, striking out 11. Forreton scored one run in the first and three in the third. They rounded out the scoring with one run in the sixth.

WHAT'S THE SCORE

By Tom Jollow

ODD ITEMS FROM HERE AND THERE: Mt. Morris has selected its six man Lincoln Highway tournament through a regular qualifying tournament. The Sunset golf club team will be composed of Ray Arnold, Everett Henderson, Bill Borklund, Frank Lewandowski, Glenn Alter and Jon Newswanger.

Dixon's Legion baseball team will play Lee Center in a hardball game at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday. We mention hardball because Lee Center will be playing the Methodists of the Dixon Church Softball league on Tuesday at Lee Center in a softball game. That game is set for 6:45 p. m.

ON THE SUBJECT OF SOFTBALL in the Grace church vs. Four Square church league game last week. Bill Reigle, Grace pitcher, faced 16 men in five innings. He struck out 10 and allowed no hits or runs.

THERE IS NOTHING LIKE CONSISTENCY in golf and if you don't believe it, ask Jerry Arnold. We learned that Arnold recently played 27 holes at the Dixon Country club. He shot a 51 the first nine, a 43 the second nine and 38 the last night. That's pretty consistent.

MAYBE THIS COULD HAPPEN IN DIXON, TOO. Little League baseball in DeKalb is now in its fourth season and Pony League in its third campaign.

The seeds of those programs which were sown a few years ago are now apparently bearing fruit on the DeKalb high school and Junior American Legion baseball teams.

THE DEKALB HIGH SCHOOL team, under George Dertinger, is currently leading the North Central Illinois conference baseball race with four wins and no losses.

The DeKalb Legion team is also undefeated in regulation play. It is believed that all of this has stemmed directly from Little League and Pony League ball.

To make sure Sandy Amoros would report to Montreal, instead of trekking to Havana, the Dodgers dispatched scout Al Campanis to keep him company . . .

THE 68th ALLENGLAND LAWN TENNIS championships opened today at Wimbledon, England with a field so big and complex it will be late Tuesday before all the players get started. Vic Seixas and Tony Trabert carry American hopes in the tournament for men while Maureen (Little Mo) Connolly is the overwhelming woman favorite.

Stanford University, with three-fourths of its 1953 team on hand, begins defense of its NCAA golf crown on soggy Brae Burn country club at Houston, Tex., today.

THE BALTIMORE ORIOLES are drawing lots of booing these days, same as they did at the St. Louis Browns. The difference is that there are more people around to boo. There were 17,149 fans on hand to see the Orioles drop a twin bill to Washington, Sunday.

Mundt Calls Committee; Try for Single Verdict

Hensel Back in Limelight; Wants Rebuke of McCarthy

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (U.S.)—Sen. Mundt (R-SD) summoned fellow investigating senators of the McCarthy-Army row for a second try today to see if they can all agree on at least part of their verdict.

Also called to the closed-door session was Tennessee lawyer Ray H. Jenkins, special counsel for the Senate Investigations subcommittee during its 36-day televised probe, who may get more work to do if it should turn out that the group's four Republican and three Democratic members see eye to eye in writing up a report.

Harmony was noticeably absent after the first executive session Friday, at which Mundt announced the subcommittee had agreed informally "to try to agree" for unanimity on at least some findings.

Demand Housecleaning

Right afterwards Sen. McClellan of Arkansas, senior Democrat and spokesman for his minority party colleagues, publicly demanded a "house cleaning" among staff members before the group undertakes any new investigations. Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), who as regular subcommittee chairman appointed its staff, retorted that the Democratic demand was "clever, dishonest and extremely dangerous to the country."

A possible new point of controversy—or at least a resurgence of an old one in the many-sided dispute—was tossed in the subcommittee's lap Sunday when H. Struve Hensel, assistant secretary of defense, demanded the group unanimously "dismiss the charges against me . . . with a severe rebuke to Sen. McCarthy."

Hensel contended McCarthy had admitted the charges were baseless.

One of Principals

Hensel started out as one of the principals accused by McCarthy and his aides of trying to use Pvt. G. David Schine as a "hostage" to sidetrack a subcommittee probe of alleged Reds in the Army. The charges named Secretary of the Army Stevens and Army Counselor John G. Adams, with Hensel listed as mastermind of the accusations brought by the Army side against McCarthy.

The Army accused McCarthy, subcommittee counsel Roy M. Cohn and Francis P. Carr, subcommittee chief of staff, of having sought by improper means to win favored Army treatment for Schine, a former subcommittee aide.

Midway in the hearings the senators on a straight party-line vote, 4-3, dismissed Hensel and Carr as principals without expressing formal findings as to the charges against them.

Mundt, who is heading the group in McCarthy's stead for purposes of the inquiry, said he wants Jenkins on hand at today's session because the special counsel may be asked to work up those parts of the report where there is overall agreement.

Asks For Costs

Mundt announced further that he is calling on the special staff for a quick report on costs of the long inquiry. The subcommittee already has voted to ask the Senate to reimburse its $214,000 1954 operating fund for whatever it cost to explore the McCarthy-Army case.

One subcommittee staff aide, declining to be quoted by name, said the total cost might run "in the neighborhood of $22,000."

Jenkins' willingness to continue on the job may give some clue to his political plans. Some friends have been urging the Tennesseean to run for the Republican nomination for the seat now held by Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.).

Interviewed on an NBC television show Sunday night, Jenkins said he probably will not run this year but he left open the possibility he might change his mind.

If he switches plans, he said, he would be happy to have McCarthy campaign in his behalf. He strongly denied, however, that during the hearing he had been any softer in his cross-examination of McCarthy than of Stevens.

On Vacation

McCarthy left last weekend for a week's vacation at an unannounced spot and could not be reached for comment. He has not publicly retracted his accusations against Hensel. In substance, these are that Hensel guided the Army charges against McCarthy in the hope of warding off a McCarthy investigation of whether Hensel, while a Navy official in World War II, improperly profited through his financial interest in a private firm.

---AND A GOOD TIP FOR YOU

WHEN it comes to sales, every car maker aspires to be up at the top of his price class.

Which is only natural. Popularity like that means success.

We know, because for years Buick has held such an envied position—the unquestioned sales leader in its class. And with good reasons in styling, room, power, value.

But today, folks like you have pushed Buick success even beyond such bounds.

Today, the top sales standings of a full generation have been changed.

Today, latest sales figures for the first four months of 1954 reveal this phenomenal fact:

In total national volume, regardless of price class, Buick is outselling every other car in America except two of the so-called "low-price three."

That's a tip too good to pass up.

That's the tip-off that Buick must have the hottest styling of the times and the sweetest performance of the year.

More important, that's the tip-off that Buick prices are well within the reach of more and more people—and that such prices buy a lot more automobile per dollar.

So why not look into the tomorrow-styled Buick that puts you so far ahead today?

Come in, or phone us this week for a demonstration. That way, you can judge for yourself that Buick really is the beautiful buy—by far.

NO OTHER CAR GIVES YOU ALL THIS:

GREATEST STYLING ADVANCE IN YEARS with completely new bodies across the board; lowered roof-lines, longer and higher fender sweep, exclusive sweeppear design.

NEWEST VISIBILITY ADVANCE with backswept windshields that give 19% more visibility; greater glass area around full 360° arc.

BIGGEST VENTILATION ADVANCE in Buick interior comfort; new, screened intake just below windshield brings in huge quantities of outside air at hood-high level, free of road heat and fumes.

HIGHEST V8 HORSEPOWER IN Buick history—from advanced vertical-valve V8 engines with up to 8.5 to 1 compression and 200 hp—plus more fuel efficiency from new Power-Head Pistons.

FINEST MILLION DOLLAR RIDE—from all-coil springs, torque-tube drive, longer wheelbases—and a new front-end geometry that stabilizes "cornering," insures more positive control, more responsive handling.

—PLUS THE WIDEST SELECTION OF MODERN FEATURES—available on most models either as standard equipment or extra-cost options:

TWIN-TURBINE DYNAFLOW • SAFETY POWER STEERING
AUTOMATIC-BOOSTER POWER BRAKES • POWER-POSITIONED 4-WAY FRONT SEAT
POWER-OPERATED RADIO ANTENNA • EASY-EYE GLASS
ELECTRIC WINDOW LIFTS • WIRE WHEELS • DRAFT-FREE AIRCONDITIONER

MY Greatest Shot

By SAM SNEAD

If you were to listen to the jokes my fellow professionals make, I'm known for a powerful lot of things. But it's a matter of record that I drive as long a ball as there is around. Now, this isn't telling tall tales over a cracker barrel.

It should come as a surprise, however, when I tell you that the shot I consider by all-time best was a little old chip shot.

The shot came during the 1942 PGA Championship, which was held at the Seaview Country Club at Absecon, outside of Atlantic City.

It was on the 11th hole and I was two up and two to play in the final match with Jim Turnesa, a guy you never do beat easily—if you do beat him.

I got up to within chip-shot range, and I'm standing around waiting for Turnesa to make his fairway iron shot. As I waited, I said to myself, "Man, why not go for the hole with this one? Why play it extra safe and look for that putt? Why not kill the match off right here?"

I took my chip shot and hit right for the cup—and the ball ran right for the hole like a scalded dog and wound up right plumb in the cup.

The shot gave me my first major tournament victory.

Safer Pole

Copper's Farmer reminds us that front bunting a heavily loaded wagon can result in a serious accident. Tractors have a nasty habit of jackknifing when bunting from the front. It's safer to work from the back with a welded pole coupling that hitches to the tractor drawbar and wagon.

Lions can leap 8 to 10 feet vertically.

Dog or diamond — when something's lost, order a Lost ad to bring it back! The number is 2-1111.

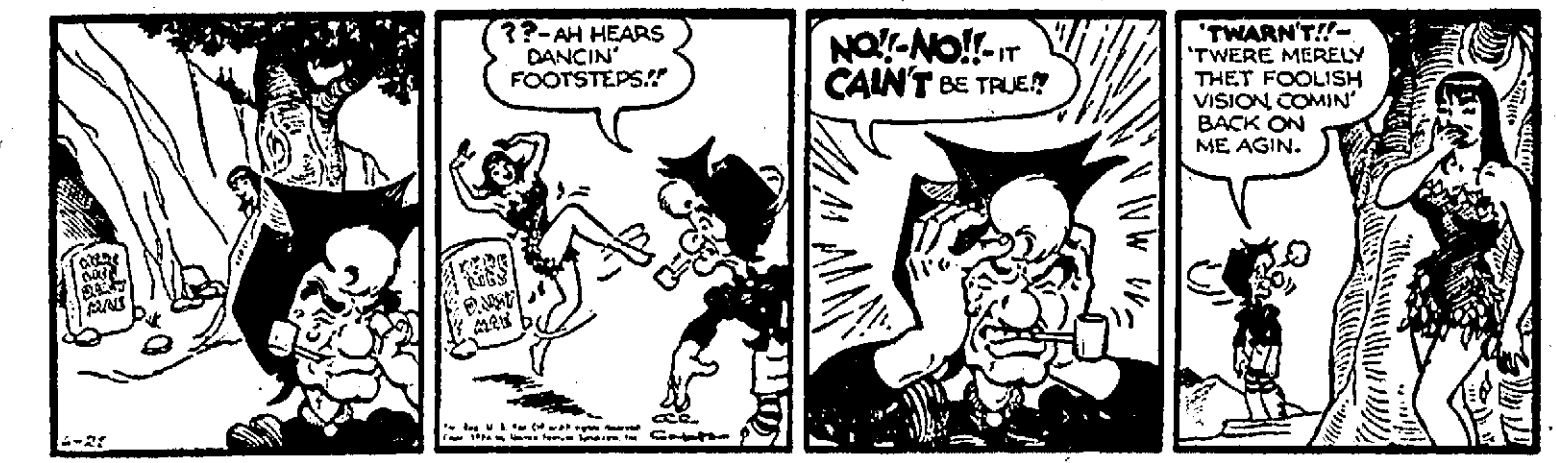

MECHANICAL "MAMA"—Nine mamaless pigs enthusiastically line up for makeshift rations on the Merton Elliott farm near Sublette, Kan., as nine-year-old Guy Elliott supervises the feeding. They are all that are left of a litter of 14. When the sow died, Elliott contrived this homemade "pigateria," using pop bottles. The surviving pigs are thriving on their artificial mama.

Ask British to Okay Asia Pact

Indo Crisis Makes Agreement Urgent

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower probably will urge British Prime Minister Churchill to cooperate in setting up an international conference on anti-Communist defenses in Southeast Asia against communism when the two meet here next weekend.

Churchill and Foreign Secretary Eden are due in Friday. Their talks with Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles will be informal and, aides indicate, as secret as possible.

Indo Crisis First

The Indochina crisis is the No. 1 topic. Others include the organization of a European Defense Community and atomic energy problems.

U. S. officials said that the American government is still urgently interested in getting a united front of Allied European and Asian nations set up to halt Communist expansion in the Indochina area. They think a conference would be useful to that end.

Until about two days ago authorities figured Britain would most likely go along on some move to ward creation of a Southeast Asian alliance. That estimate was based on the official belief that Britain had decided the Geneva conference would fall to produce peace in Indochina.

New Hopes

But on Friday and Saturday, France organized a new government which staked its existence on getting an Indochina peace in 30 days. Then the Reds at Geneva offered new concessions to keep the talks going and agreed to military discussions on ending the war in Laos and Cambodia as well as in Viet Nam.

The Geneva developments reportedly brought new hopes for peace to British leaders although Americans remained skeptical.

Quite apart from the Southeast Asian problem, the formation of the Mendes-France government provided no encouragement at all here to bolster waning American hopes for French approval of EDC.

A year or so ago Churchill was quite interested in the possibility of taking West Germany directly into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization as a possible alternative to EDC. At Bermuda last December he dropped his advocacy of that in favor of pressing hard for EDC, which Eisenhower was then insisting upon.

Truman Has Operation; Improving

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman, reported in satisfactory condition today after an emergency operation, probably will be able to leave the hospital in 10 days.

His appendix and gall bladder were removed early Sunday.

The 70-year-old ex-President was able to sit up in a chair for a brief period Sunday. He told his doctor he considered himself just another patient at Research hospital and didn't want any fuss made in his behalf.

"Perfect Patient"

Dr. Wallace Graham, his physician who also was his personal doctor during White House days, said Truman should be able to leave the hospital in 10 days if all goes well.

"Mr. Truman is a perfect patient," he said. "He expects you to know certain things and he expects you to be sure of them. Then he doesn't fuss or worry. He decides to get things fixed."

The physician said he was "very ill" when he entered the hospital but had stood the operation extremely well.

He first became ill Friday night while attending the play "Call Me Madam" at the outdoor Starlight Theater.

Remains at Side

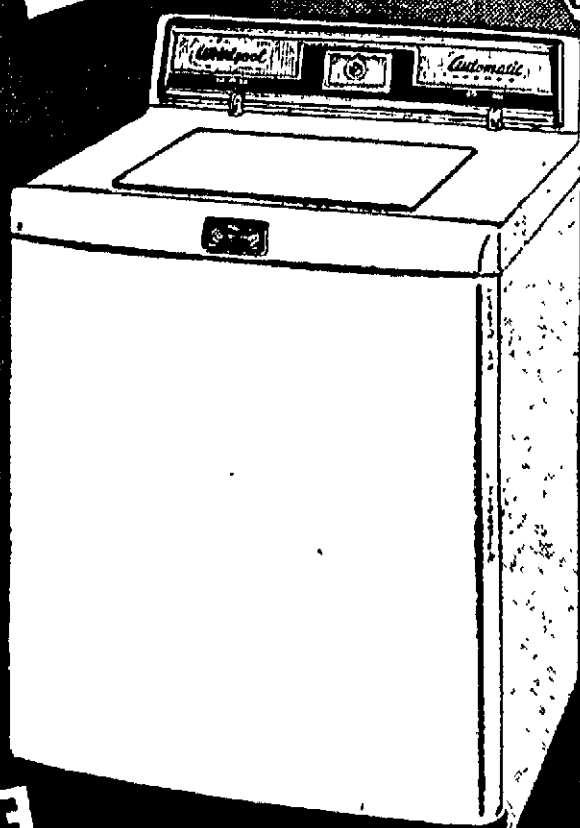

Mrs. Truman remained at the hospital during the operation. After a visit with her husband later in the day, she said he was "in good spirits as usual."

During his seven-year stay in the White House, Truman suffered several gall bladder attacks and had periodic X-ray checks. Dr. Graham disclosed. The doctor said these were painful but not very severe.

Woman in Coma 6 1/2 Years; It's Called Miracle

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A doctor says it is a "medical miracle" that after 6 1/2 years of unconsciousness Mrs. Ada Wrigley, widow of William Wrigley Jr., of baseball and chewing gum fame, is still alive.

Mrs. Wrigley, who keeps her age a secret but is believed to be 83 or 84, suffered a stroke at her mansion here Dec. 23, 1947. She has been in a coma since and is almost completely paralyzed.

Dr. William G. Hibbs, her Chicago physician, said: "It is the medical miracle of my life and, so far as I know, is alone in the Literature of medicine."
